Team,

EPA has reviewed the responses to our comments and the revised text. Although differences of opinion remain, EPA appreciates the Navy's efforts towards addressing our comments and has no objection to finalizing the Site 4 RI report.

Jerry

Jerry,

Attached are the Navy's responses to your comments on the CAX Site 4/Youth Pond RI Report. These responses were developed based on our team conversation on 10/17. In addition to the RTCs, I've attached a redline version of the report text, the new site cross-sections, and the portions of HHRA and ERA that were revised as a result of your comments (either in redline [word docs] or highlights [excel docs]).

If you have any questions regarding the attached files, please let me know. Upon your approval of the attached RTCs and redline edits, we will accept the document changes and issue the final Site 4/Youth Pond RI Report (in the form of change pages).

Thanks,
Stephanie

Scott,

As you will see in the attached letter, there are some issues that you may need to discuss internally with the Navy and CH2MHill.

Stephanie,

I've included some BTAG comments that are pertinent to completing the RI Report. The responses you provided to these comments in draft form are adequate. The BTAG comments numbered 1 to 5 in my letter are comments 16, 18, 19, 20, and 22 from the draft comments I sent you.

I hope you all realize that it is 6:20pm on a Friday night. That means that I'm either a really hard worker or I have nothing better to do. There has to be something better than this! I'm out Monday, golfing. I'll talk to you all on Tuesday.
